The Age of Lead. We are wont to speak of this era NATION IS IN NEED as the "age of iron," and there is no gainsaying that, industrially speaking, iron is a "precious metal." Nevertheless, few people realize how useful, if not absolutely neces sary, to modern civilization, is that other metal, lead. Soft, yielding, pliable, it is not much like its sister metal, but those distinguishing qualities are what give it such a prominent place in the arts and industries.

Modern plumbing, requiring many turnings and twistings, but withal tight joints, would be almost impossible without lead pipe. The greatest civilizing agent in the world-the printing art-is absolutely dependent on lead. Hand-set type, linotype "slugs," monotype type-all are made of compositions of which lead is the chief component-to say nothing of the bearings in the presses as well as all other kinds of machinery in which "babbitt" metal is used. Solder is another lead product-what a field of usefulness that one form opens up. Taen there is the most important use of all to which lead is put-paint. that necessary material which keeps our houses looking pretty-inside and out-and preserves them from decay. How many of us thank metallic lead for the comforts of paint? Yet the best house paint is nothing but metallic lead corroded by acid to a white powder known as "white lead." Of course, there are many imitations of white lead," some of which are sold as white lead and some which are offered by the name of ready-prepared paint under the familiar pretense that they are "just as good" as white lead. But all good paint is made of the metal, lead, corroded and ground to a fine white powder and mixed with linseed oil.

White lead is also used in the coat ing of fine oil cloths and for many purposes besides paint.

"Red lead" is another product of metallic lead and is what is known as an oxide of lead, being produced by best paint known to preserve iron, steel or tin, and is used largely in painting metal structures, such as skyscraper skeletons, mills and bridges.

There are many other products of the metal lead, such as litharge, orange mineral, etc., which are essential to many of the arts in which we never imagine that lead would be of the least use.

Verily, we live in an age of lead as well as of iron.

Lincoln as a Lawyer. A leader of the Lincoln party told the other day in Philadelphia a story

"When Lincoln was practising law," he said, "he had a case involving a disputed will. The opposition claimed the will was genuine and for several hours adduced proof of this. For Lincoln, who had to prove the will a forgery, things looked black.

"Lincoln, however, only called one witness, a retired paper manufacturer, renowned the country over for his wealth and problty.

"'Mr. Dash,' Lincoln said to this witness, handing him the disputed will, 'please hold that paper up to the light and tell us what is the water mark on it.

OF MORE RELIGION

President Roosevelt makes an address at Oyster Bay on the Necessity of Religion and Clean Living.

Oyster Bay .- In an address at the bi-centenary celebration of the Christ Episcopal church here on Saturday President Roosevelt talked of the ne cessity of religion and clean living for the welfare of the nation.

"I cannot understand any American citizen," he said, "who has the faintest feeling of patriotism and devotion to his country, failing to appreciate the absolute essential need of religion in its broadest sense, to the welfare of this country.

"If it were not for the fact that in our villages and towns as they have grown up, the churches have grown up in them, and in the churches men whose work is not for the things of the body, but for the welfare of the soul, it would not be the nation that it is, because the nation would not be a fit abode for civilized man."

He said that our material foundation of wealth was but a base for the spiritual growth of the nation, and material ought not to while the disregarded, its real object ought not to be lost sight of. The mission of the church was not to work in the interests of one sect, but for humanity as a whole.

its most humble professor."

On the subject of riches the president said:

"There is nothing I abhor more than the telling of an untruth, whether unconventional untruth or not, and would on no occasion be understood as affecting to deprecate material well being. To tell men to disregard riches is to preach to them a doctrine which it is impossible for them to live up to, but which the preacher knows perfectly well they will not try to live up to. But put riches below the things of the soul. Give to the body what the body is entitled to. multi-millionaire is not a harm, but sgood, to the community if he appreci ates that he is only a trustee for the cause of goodness."

The president emphasized the ne essity of every man being thorough ly self-supporting as a basis for spir itual life. He concluded that the sentiment of the only life really worth iving was one that made others better because it had been lived.

ADAMS CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Released on Habeas Corpus, But Again Taken into Custody.

Bolse, Ida.-The case of Steve Adams grows complicated. No objection was made by the state to his release on the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Stewart Friday. He was immediately arrested on a fugitive warrant issued on the request of the sheriff of Denver, Colo., on a charge of murdering Lyte Gregory in that city May 15, 1904, and is held in charge of the sheriff of this county. Now Sheriff Angus Sutherland of county, this state, has wired that he is coming for Adams, armed with a warrant charging him with complicity in the brutal murder of two men on the St. Joseph river in the fall of 1904. These men were named Tyler and Walley. They were shot from ambush and it has always been understood that J. L. Simpkins, now a fugitive from justice in connection with the Steunenberg assassination, was one of the murderers.

Swords Into a Plow. During the centennial celebration in Felladelphia in 1876 the members of the Universal Peace union assembled to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the order.

A number of officers and descend ants of officers gave their swords to be made into a plow as a symbol of peace. The weapons were afterward fashloned into a homely agricultural implement, which, however, instead of being a plow, took the shape of the ordinary field cultivator.

This cultivator may now be seen in the hall at Geneva, Switzerland. Over of the implement.

TERRIBLE SCALY ECZEMA. Eruptions Appeared on Chest, and Face and Neck Were All Broken Out-Cured by Cuticura.

"I had an eruption appear on my chest and body and extend upwards and downwards, so that my neck and face were all broken out; also my arms and the lower limbs as far as the knees. I at first thought it was prickly heat. But soon scales or crusts formed where the breaking out was. Instead of going to a physician I purchased a complete treatment of the Cuticura Remedies, in which I had great faith, and all was satisfactory. A year or two later the eruption appeared again, only a little lower; but before it had time to spread I procured another supply of the Cuticura Remedies, and continued their use until the cure was complete. It is now five years since the last attack, and have not seen any signs of a return. I have more faith in Cuticura Remedies for skin diseases than anything I know of. Emma E. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Relief, and Cure for Splitting Headaches as Well,

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a remedy which has been before the American people for a generation, is still accomplishing wonderful results as is evidenced by the following interview with Mrs. Rachael Gardner, of Wilsey, Kans.

"It was very strange," she says, "I never could tell what caused it and neither could anybody else. For a long time I had bad spells with my stomach. The pain would commence about my heart and was so deadly agonizing that I would have to scream aloud. Sometimes it would last several hours and I would have to take laudanum to stop it. Besides this I had a headache almost constantly, day and night, that nearly crazed me, so you see I suffered a great deal. And when I think of the agony I endured it still makes me shudder

" 'Doctors,' did you say? Their medicine made me sicker. I couldn't take it and I kept growing worse until a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did. I began to feel better and was soon wholly converted to this wonderful medicine. It did me more good than I had ever hoped for. I kept on with the pills and now I recommend them to all who suffer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of indigestion, bloodlessness, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness and spinal weakness. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. At all druggists, or from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, it is an inscription giving the history N.Y., postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

INDIANS GIG BIG FISH.

Spurn the Use of Rod and Reel, But Land Some Great Bass and Catfish.

The mountain streams of Indian territory, which abound in game fish, principally black bass, have been as clear as crystal of late, and the Indians have been having great sport gigging them.

In a mountain stream in the territory when the water is clear the bottom can be seen through six feet of water, and this makes gigging a great sport for the Indians. They are experts with the cance and the gig, and spurn the finest fishing tackle in the way of rod and reel, as it is too slow sport for them.

It is interesting to watch a couple of Indians gig fish. With the long, slender reed, tipped and barbed with steel, one Indian leans over the prow of the canoe while the other with his paddle gently and noiselessly lets the canoe slide up to the big rocks and around logs in deep water, where the bass and catfish lie. The Indian carries his gig uplifted and ready to strike at any time

With his face not six inches above the water, his keen eyes scan the bottom, and he will locate a bass or catfish lying partly under a rock or log that would never be seen by the average fisherman. The stroke of the dexterous arm is like lightning, and in a flash the fish is speared through and lifted in the boat.

There is no struggling to land him, no excitement of winding in the line, for the Indian hunts for game, and not

WEAR EXPLOSIVE GOWNS.

Woman Gowned in Imitation Silk That Has Gun Cotton for Basis. "Science, which lately furnished a mechanical substitute for the horse has now set about putting the lowly silkworm out of business," writes Clarence Hutton, in the Technical World Magazine. Almost unknown in the United States, the manufacture of artificial silk has been on a commercial basis in France for several years, the daily production being now about seven tons. In forming a chemical compound corresponding to the viscous fluid out of which the silkworm spins his delicate thread, the French chemists found, strangely enough, that the best substitute was a solution of gun cotton, which also serves as the basis for the most powerful and deadly of modern explosives. To what extent this guncotton silk is relieved of its explosive qualities before being woven into laces and dress fabrics, seems to be somewhat questionable. Certainly a young woman gowned in gun cotton and wearing a dainty nitroglycerin wrap about her white shoulders, would be a most formidable not to say dangerous object. If the new fabric ever becomes popular in this country it will plainly be necessary to warn young men not to approach its wearers with lighted cigarettes or other combustibles in their hands. And sparking will become a most hazardous occupation.

Birth Rate of Talented. Michand finds a steady fall in the irthrate of men of talent from New England westward. In New England out of every 100,000 births 54 are those of men of talent; in New York that number falls to 34, in Ohio to 19, in Indiana to 11, in Illinois to 16, in Missouri to 6, in Kansas to 2, in Colorado to 1. This was learned by comparing the states by the number of persons whose names appear in a directory of those prominent in public life, the arts and sciences and literary pursuits with the the total number of persons born. The objection, of course of these statistics is that a great many of these men-as, for instance, instance, in New York cityare not natives, and after they have become famous and prosperous have broadened their field of work by moving to a larger center of activity, where opportunities are greater .-
